Earl I. Anzai, Attorney General Thomas R. Keller, First Deputy Attorney General Research & Statistics Branch January, 2001

Data derived from arrests and crimes reported to the police can only provide estimates of the actual extent of crime. Shifts in law enforcement focus, isolated cases resulting in multiple arrests, and broader societal changes that affect the likelihood that victims will report certain types of crimes are some of the factors that may affect these data.

The number of Index Crimes* reported in the first six months of 2000 increased 10.0% from the number reported during the same period in 1999. In the first half of 2000, violent crimes (murder, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault) accounted for 5% of all reported Index Crimes; property crimes (burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft) accounted for 95%. The number of violent crimes reported during the first six months of 2000 increased 3.5% from the same period in 1999, while the number of reported property crimes increased 10.4% to post its second lowest level since 1986 (not shown in chart below).

Distribution of Reported Offenses, First Six Months of 2000

1995

Reported Property Crimes First Six Months 1989-1999 State of Hawaii

All 4 counties posted increases in total Index Crimes and property crime, with Kauai County reporting the largest increases (18.9% and 13.8%, respectively). Kauai County also posted the greatest percentage increase in violent crimes (232.0%), while the City & County of Honolulu's 0.4% and Maui County's 7.0% reductions in violent crimes were the only decreases recorded.

Juvenile arrests decreased 9% and adult arrests increased 4% from the first six months of 1999. Arrests for violent crimes were down 3% among juveniles and rose 13% among adults.

Although Index Crimes increased in the first half of 2000, they remained below the number reported for the first half of 1998, well below the numbers reported for the years dating back to 1995 (when Index Crimes were at their highest point in the past decade), and below the average number reported historically.

^{*}Index Crimes include murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft.
